

BLEASE DEFENDS LYNCHING DOCTRINE

Many Women Leave Audience When Executive Resorts to Profane Term

ANSWERS CAREY'S QUERY

Declares He Will Tear Up Commission When the Constitution Steps in Front of White Women's Virtue.

SHAFFROTH AGAINST MOB LAW

RICHMOND, VA., Dec. 5.—Many women in attendance on the governor's conference today hurriedly left the hall when Governor Cole L. Blease of South Carolina, for the second time defending his doctrine of lynching negroes guilty of criminal assault, without trial, shouted the words:

"To hell with the constitution!" This sentiment was in response to a question by Governor Joseph N. Carey of Wyoming, who desired to know if Governor Blease had not taken an oath to uphold the constitution and laws of his state, and if these laws did not protect colored men as well as white men.

"I will answer that question," replied the South Carolinian, "and I hope the newspaper men will get it right, for in my campaign in South Carolina they found that I am a fighter—and a cold blooded fighter. When the constitution steps between me and the defense of the virtue of the white woman of my state, I will resign my commission and tear it up and throw it to the breeze. I have heretofore said 'to hell with the constitution.'"

Many Left Audience. When women, some of them wives and daughters of governors, left the hall, on hearing this, Governor Blease subsided.

Governor Albert W. Gilchrist of Florida, answered Governor Blease. "The first thing," he said, "that indicates a manly man or woman, is thoughtful consideration for other people."

Later Governor John F. Shaffroth of Colorado referred to the lynch law doctrine.

"One mob can do more injury to society," he said, "than twenty murderers, because a lynching permeates the entire community and produces anarchy. The influence of mob rule is most reprehensible. When laws are made it should be the duty of a governor to enforce them, whether he approves them or not. When the law prescribes hanging for an offense and a man is found guilty, he should be hanged, whether white or black; and there is no excuse for mob law. I conceive it to be our duty as governors to declare for law and order."

Considered Divorce Laws. Papers read by Governor Tasker L. Oddie of Nevada and James H. Hawley of Idaho on uniformity in laws governing divorce were under consideration when Governor Blease spoke. He defended the position of South Carolina, where no divorce is permitted for any cause. He related again to his pardon record, boasted that he had pardoned and paroled more negroes than all other governors of his state combined since 1876.

Announcing there has not been a lynching in North Carolina for years, Governor W. W. Kitchen of North Carolina said the sentiment for standing by the laws daily gains strength. He believed there should be convictions in nearly every case where there is a lynching.

Governor Mann of Virginia added that he would call out every soldier in the state if necessary to protect a man under arrest and give him a fair trial.

STATE RESTS IN FISHER CASE. Baldwin, Mich., Dec. 5.—The state rested its case today in the trial of M. A. Fisher, charged with murder in the second degree, in the case of his partner, Harry Fisher of Chicago, who was shot near here September 19 while on a hunting trip. Two witnesses for the defense were heard and the case probably will go to the jury some time Saturday.

The two witnesses called by the defense were young men from Chicago, who testified only as to Aerebach's character. Evidence offered today by the state was of a circumstantial nature.

SEARCH FOR MISSING SCHOONER. Chicago, Dec. 5.—Search for the missing schooner, Rouse Simmons, will be general on Lake Michigan tomorrow. The vessel laden with Christmas trees is believed to have gone down in the middle of the lake with seventeen persons on board. Swift tugs and yachts will leave tomorrow and spread out in fan-shape to sweep the lake for traces of the vessel missing for two weeks.

Finding of wreckage by fishermen leads to the belief that the Simmons is lost.

CHARLES B. ELLIOTT RESIGNS. Washington, Dec. 5.—Charles B. Elliott of Minnesota, a member of the Philippine commission who now is in Washington, has resigned. It is expected that the vacancy which will be filled by the appointment of some one now in the islands.

DOES NOT WORRY OVER FACTIONAL STRIFE

WILSON DECLARES THAT THERE "WILL BE NO TROUBLE"

"It Would be Stupidity to Start Trouble in Present State of Things and Those Who Expect It Are Going to be Fooled."

HAMILTON, BERMUDA, DEC. 5.—The story of just how the engagement for the approaching conference of President-elect Wilson with William Jennings Bryan came to be made was told today.

It seems that just before Mr. Wilson's departure from Princeton and while he was keeping his destination secret in order to avoid callers, word came to Mr. Bryan that Mr. Wilson was going to Florida. It happened that Mr. Bryan already had made plans to visit Miami, and in writing to the president-elect casually mentioned the fact, adding that he might drop in on the next president some day if the latter happened to locate near by. The letter was not received by Mr. Wilson until after he arrived at Hamilton. In reply he said he would be pleased to meet his distinguished friend when he returned to the United States. This is the exact correspondence on that subject between the two Democratic leaders since election.

The president-elect is not permitting himself to be troubled over the predictions of factional differences affecting his administration.

"I know that there have been all sorts of cross-crosses," he said today, "but there is not going to be any trouble. Why, it would be down right stupidity to start trouble in the present state of things, and those who expect it are going to be fooled—and greatly fooled too."

Immediately upon his return home he will meet many party leaders, though no engagement other than that with Mr. Bryan has been made. In his hope that congress will fulfill its campaign pledges, Mr. Wilson is encouraged by his confidence in Oscar Underwood. He believes the house leader is the type of man who looks upon legislation from the viewpoint of the national good rather than from that of sectional advantage.

TESTIFIES TO METHODS USED BY CASH REGISTER COMPANY

Witness in Trial of J. H. Patterson Bought and Closed-Spotting System Used.

Cincinnati, O., Dec. 5.—Methods that were used by the National Cash Register company were described on the witness stand today in the trial of President John H. Patterson and 29 other officials or former officials of the company by Joseph E. Warren of Boston, formerly employed by the National company. The officials are charged with having violated the criminal section of the Sherman anti-trust act.

Warren testified that President Patterson had said that to cut off the ears, tail and feet of a dog would not necessarily prove fatal but to cut off its head would.

Patterson advised buying out opposition factories in order to prevent them from putting opposition machines on the market. An office boy in New Orleans was used in spotting opposition machines at the depots and then shadowing them to their destination. The witness testified that Edgar Park of New York, one of the defendants, had been furnished money by the National company to buy out competing companies, and then closed them.

Warren further said that T. J. Watson, assistant sales manager of the National, was the man selected to crush out second-hand stores of the opposition.

On cross-examination the witness said he knew most of the deals were put through and most of the competition was started, only on the basis that the competitors had infringed on the patent rights of the national company.

MEXICAN TROOPS ARE BEING MOBILIZED.

Will be Moved Against Newly Rebel Army at Gallego.

El Paso, Dec. 5.—Resulting from renewed rebel activity in Chihuahua federal troops are being mobilized at the state capital to move against the newly formed rebel army at Gallego. Nearly 1,000 men under Col. Alanda were ordered today to leave Ojinaga on the Texas border and proceed over the Orient Railway to the state capital.

General Jose Blanco, chief of insurgents, arrived today at Juarez to confer with General Tracy Aubert, regarding the situation. An indefinite embargo has been placed on the Mexican Central railway.

FINANCIAL EXPERTS TO TESTIFY

Washington, Dec. 5.—A number of financial and currency experts have been instructed to appear before the sub-committee seeking a substitute for the Aldrich currency plan, according to Chairman Glass, of the sub-committee. He announced tonight that the committee would begin its hearings during the week of January 6.

GUILTY OF CRIMINAL ASSAULT.

Dubuque, Iowa, Dec. 5.—Edward Jaeger was found guilty by a jury here today on a charge of criminal assault. The penalty is life imprisonment. Two others are awaiting trial on the same charge.

CONGRESS PREPARES TO HANDLE TARIFF

TRUSTS AND TARIFF WILL SOON RECEIVE ATTENTION

Schedules Will Be Taken Up in Series of Hearings and Preliminary Work is Planned to be Completed by End of February.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—Tariff and the trusts soon will be receiving attention in congress for the purpose of preparing the ground for the actual work of legislation on these subjects by the next congress. The ways and means committee will hold its initial meeting next Monday to lay plans for the tariff. It is expected that a series of hearings will be set, beginning about January 8th and extending over six weeks. The hearings will be by schedules, a date being set for each. In this way it is expected most of the preliminary work may be in hand by the end of February, so that the work may then begin on drafting the measure of measures for tariff reduction in readiness for the extra session, beginning April 15th.

The general consensus of views appears to be for a series of separate measures on the more important articles and schedules, but there is still some sentiment in favor of one comprehensive bill. While this phase is not settled, the indications are that there will be separate measures on the important articles and schedules, such as wool, cotton and metal.

As the legislation affecting trusts and the Sherman law, Chairman of the committee on judiciary, said today that early in January the committee would begin hearings and preparing the ground for the measures to be urged before the next congress.

An income tax also is being looked forward to as one of the important measures to be framed, probably in connection with tariff legislation.

Thirty-four states have ratified the income tax amendment to the constitution, and the votes of two more states will suffice to make the amendment a part of the organic law. Members of the ways and means committee are rather expecting that President-elect Wilson's state, New Jersey, will be one of the two to cast the decisive votes favorable to ratification. When ratified the question of an income tax, in accordance with the constitutional authority, would come before the ways and means committee as a part of its authority over revenue producing measures. The income tax law of 1904 was added as amendment to the Wilson tariff bill, and members of the committee said today that such a measure probably would be considered as a part of the tariff and revenue producing legislation.

MERIT SYSTEM IS URGED FOR ALL GOVERNMENT OFFICES

Charles W. Eliot of Reform League Says Plan is by no Means Creation of Republican Party Only.

Milwaukee, Wis., Dec. 5.—"Fill all government offices on the merit system through careful original selection and careful promotion and no civil servant will have any patron to serve. Require all civil servants to abstain from partisan political activity and there will be no officeholders management of either nominations or elections," said President Charles W. Eliot of the National Civil Service Reform League, in the course of his address at the thirty-second annual meeting in Milwaukee tonight.

President Eliot said the merit system as it now exists was by no means the creation of the Republican party alone. He said George H. Pendleton of Ohio, Democrat, was author of the early bill which bore his name and Grover Cleveland was a civil servant reformer throughout his public career.

DEVELOPMENT IS NEEDED IN ALL COUNTRY'S RESOURCES.

Senator Poinsett asserts That Improved Waterways Transportation Would do Much to Better Trade Conditions.

Washington, Dec. 5.—Senator Poinsett of Washington, in an address here today before the National Rivers and Harbors congress declared that the time had come for the development of every resource in this country and he emphasized waterway development as one of the country's most important needs.

Senator Poinsett asserted that the railways in waterway transportation did not, so far as have competition, but because the rail lines cannot handle the trade. He spoke also of the importance of carrying through to completion river improvement work, on which large sums already had been spent, so that the returns on the investment would not be delayed.

Harold F. McCormick, vice-president and treasurer of the International Harvester company, expressed the opinion that, as with the Panama canal, a large bond issue should be created for the purpose of improving on a large scale the waterways of the country.

Passed Adamson bill for physical valuation of railroads with Mann amendment empowering inter-state commerce commission to regulate issuance of stocks and bonds.

Took up legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill. Adjourned at 5:30 until noon Friday.

WASHINGTON, DEC. 5.—Amended

to authorize a complete investigation into the question of inter-state carrier corporations, stock and bond issues, the bill by Representative Adamson empowering the later state commerce commission to make a physical valuation of the property of railroads and other common carriers, was passed by the house today without a dissenting vote.

The measure asked for by the inter-state commerce commission would provide for a far-reaching inquiry with the view of having railroad rates fixed on the basis of income of actual investment. It would authorize the employment of engineers and other experts, with power to summon witnesses and take testimony to make an inventory listing in detail the property of every inter-state carrier. The investigators would be directed to ascertain the original most for railway purposes of each piece of property the cost and value to the present owner, and what increase in value is due to improvements.

All questions relating to existing stock and bond issues of such carriers also would be inquired into and reported upon.

Representative Mann of Illinois, the Republican leader, offered the amendment directing the examination into the stock and bond issue question after a point of order has been obtained against his amendment, authorizing the inter-state commerce commission to regulate and restrict the issuance of securities by carriers.

The amendment adopted provides that the proposed investigation by the commissions experts shall also cover, so far as practicable questions pertaining to the issuance of stocks and bonds by common carrier corporations, subject to the provisions of this act, and the power of congress to regulate or affect the same, and particularly methods to prevent the issuance of stocks and bonds by such corporations without full value being received therefor."

Debate on the measure today was confined entirely to the point of order against the original Mann amendment, which was pending when house adjourned on Tuesday. Speaker Clark ruled that the amendment actually authorizing supervision of stock and bond issues could not be considered.

TESTIFIES DEAL MADE BY JUDGE ARCHBALD

MAY DENIES HE TRIED TO INFLUENCE JUDGE BY LAND SALE

General Manager of Hillside Iron and Coal Co., Testifies to Senate Sitting at Impeachment Trial of Pennsylvania Jurist.

Washington, Dec. 5.—A vigorous denial of the charge in mind influential Robert Archbald, as a judge of the commerce court when he recommended the sale of the Katy-did coal dump to E. J. Williams and Judge Archbald was the testimony today of W. A. May, vice-president and general manager of the Hillside Iron and Coal company, an Erie Railroad subsidiary, in his testimony to the senate sitting at the impeachment trial of Judge Archbald.

Under the examination of Representative Sterling, Mr. May told of receiving Williams with a letter from Judge Archbald, asking if the Katy-did dump was for sale. A consultation between Mr. May and Vice-President Richardson of the coal company, and also of the railroad company, followed, at which it was decided not to sell. On August 25, 1911, May testified, Richardson told him to go ahead with the sale.

"Why did he say to go ahead?" inquired Representative Sterling.

"He told me Judge Archbald had been in to see him," was the response.

Five days later, Mr. May testified, he met Judge Archbald on the street and told him to send Williams to see him. May testified he then wrote to Williams offering to sell the dump. He acknowledged receiving another letter from Judge Archbald, who asked that the purchase price of $4,500 be kept confidential. He told of Richard Bradley consenting to buy the dump from Williams, but he testified that Bradley had agreed to pay $20,000 for the property. Under a fire of questions the witness denied that he withdrew a form of sale submitted to Bradley because "he had a tip" that Judge Archbald's conduct was being investigated. He gave as the reason that litigation was threatened by persons claiming an interest in the dump.

Under cross-examination Williams testified that William G. Boland had asked him to get Judge Archbald to write the letters to Mr. May and that Boland had been promised an interest in the property.

J. H. Rittenhouse of Scranton, a witness soon to appear in the trial, was "admonished to obey the summons of the senate."

On complaint of Representative Clayton that Mr. Rittenhouse had refused to obey the subpoena, a special order was issued for the "attachment" of the person of the witness. He was brought into the senate just before adjournment, and admonished by President Bacon that he might hold himself ready to testify at any time until released by the senate.

SAYS MEMBERS OF CONGRESS

"CAROUS AROUND" WHEN ALONE

Representative Mann Defends Practice of Paying Members Twenty Cents a Mile For Their Trips to and From Capital.

Washington, Dec. 5.—Suggesting that "carousing around Washington" is an almost inevitable result of members of congress coming to the capital alone, Representative Mann of Illinois today defended the practice of paying members twenty cents a mile for their trips to and from Washington, on the ground that the excess allowance was used largely to defray the traveling expenses of the families of senators and representatives.

The house, sitting as a committee of the whole, devoted nearly all of today's session to consideration of the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill. Representative Cox of Indiana sought to amend the bill so as to provide for the payment of actual traveling expenses of members, but his proposition was voted down.

Consideration of the bill will be continued for several days.

LEGLEITNER TESTIFIES IN DYNAMITE TRIAL

DESCRIBES SCENES AT HEADQUARTERS ON ARREST OF McNAMARA

On Instruction From President Ryan He Went to Guard Vaults From Detectives But Did Not Know That They Contained Dynamite.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., DEC. 5.—Scenes about the iron workers national headquarters when John J. McNamara, the secretary was arrested, six months after the Los Angeles Times explosion, were described by Henry W. Legleitner, Denver, a defendant, at the dynamite conspiracy trial today.

Legleitner said he and other members of the union's executive board were in session when the detectives entered. On instruction from President Ryan he went to guard some vaults to prevent detectives from procuring papers until the union's attorney arrived but he denied knowledge that any explosives were in the vaults from which nitroglycerine, dynamite and infernal machines later were taken. At that time, Legleitner said, he was a member of the committee appointed to audit the unions finances. He identified one check for $1,000 paid to Olaf A. Tveitmo, San Francisco in August, 1910, two months before the Los Angeles explosion, but he denied passing on any checks giving McNamara $1,000 a month which the government charges was used for a "dynamiting crew."

Legleitner denied knowledge about any explosions. He was a member of a local union at Springfield, Ill., gave his reasons for writing several letters which the government charges concerned plans for explosions. In one letter he said he requested that Hocking be sent to Springfield, as a national organizer to help unionize a job which later was blown up. Two explosions occurred on a viaduct in March, 1910, with $45,000 damages, but Pennell denied knowing who caused it.

RETAIL IMPLEMENT DEALERS

CONTROLLED BY I. H. CO

Are Unable to Handle International Machinery Unless They Handle It Exclusively.

St. Louis, Mo., Dec. 5.—Two implement dealers testified this afternoon at the hearing of the government's suit to dissolve the International Harvester company, that they had been forced to return cart shipments of independent company's machinery in order to obtain more supplies from the International.

William H. Green of Creighton, Neb., who testified this morning that his supply of international machines had been taken before him because his anti-trust suit was in progress, was asked why he was inimical to so-called trusts.

"I considered I was only a frog in a tub," he replied, "and had to jump when the International got after me to protect myself, or it would drive me into bankruptcy."

John A. Dabb of Belleville, Ill., testified that he had handled Deering and McCormick harvesters since 1907, when he ordered a car load of Acme machines. The International had heard of the order after the car was in the Belleville yards and had insisted that he return the shipment to the Acme factory, cancelling his order. A car load of Deering machines that he had also ordered, he said, was delayed until the Acme shipment had been sent back.

John A. Falaska, Weatherford, Okla., related that he had tried to put in an independent line, but had to cancel the order before he could get anymore international machines.

TAFT ADDRESSES

WATERWAYS DELEGATION

Washington, Dec. 5.—Expressing sympathy with the movement looking to the improvement of the waterways of the Mississippi valley, President Taft addressed the waterways delegation today, a delegation from the lakes-to-the-gulf deep waterways association which presented him with a handsome bond copy of the resolutions adopted at the annual convention in Little Rock, Ark., last September, referred to what he termed the "formidable difficulties" in the way of carrying out the project. The president declared however that if the members of the deep waterways association would press the solution in a satisfactory form, would be had.

GREEKS OPERATING AGAINST JANINA

Hostilities Elsewhere Have Been Ordered to Cease

REMAIN FROM ARMISTICE

Reports From Sofia and Athens Explain that Action is Taken in Agreement With Allies

FORECAST PROPERTY DANGER

LONDON, DEC. 5.—Greece is still standing out from the armistice, but it is explained both from Sofia and Athens that this separate action is undertaken in agreement with the allies, in order to prevent Turkey from profiting from the armistice to improve her military position. An unconfirmed report from Athens says the Greeks are continuing their operations against Janina, but elsewhere orders have been received to cease hostilities.

The reports current yesterday in some quarters that arrangements had been made for the revivification of the besieged garrisons appear to have been inaccurate. Provisioning will not begin until the peace conference has been inaugurated.

The Bulgarian government newspaper "Mir" in another editorial today, dilates on the advantages to Turkey of a good understanding with Bulgaria. It declares that Turkey's salvation lies not in continuing the war, but in seeking rapid peace with Bulgaria. The French Premier M. Poincare, in a speech in the chamber of deputies in which he reviewed the war and its effect upon European interests made an important pronouncement, indicating that the difficult problems would be solved at the London conference and expressed the hope that Turkey would speedily reconsider her propriety.

He said it would be necessary to determine what part of the Turkish public debt should be taken over by the Balkan states, and added that France probably would arrange special conventions with the allies for the protection of the extensive French interests in the conquered territories.

MANY WERE ADMITTED TO FITZGERALD'S CAGE

Witness Tells of Practices Among Clerks in Office—Had Free Access to Cage to Secure Change—Saw Assistant Spring a Lock as a Joke.

Chicago, Dec. 5.—Testimony that numerous persons were permitted to enter the cage of the assenting teller of the United States sub-treasury at Chicago, where millions of dollars were kept, prior to the disappearance of $173,000, was given in defense of George W. Fitzgerald, on trial for alleged embezzlement of the funds.

Frank J. Walsh, clerk of the criminal court, formerly employed as vault clerk in the sub-treasury, declared that it was a common thing for other tellers to go into Fitzgerald's cage on business. He said that the doors leading to the teller's cage had locks, but that it was impossible to get a key into them because they were covered with paint. Walsh testified that on the day the shortage was discovered he entered Fitzgerald's cage to pay him $6,500 in $100 gold certificates.

"If he borrowed the money to make change, which was a regular practice among the office employees," Walsh said, "when we got money at that time there were no receipts given. Fitzgerald merely checked off the money and made a memorandum. Some times he took our words for the amounts."

The witness asserted that on several occasions Arthur Roal, assistant to the cashier, entered Fitzgerald's cage. "On some occasions I saw him put his fingers through the mesh and spring the lock," Walsh said. "He did it as a joke."

MORE MONEY PLEDGED I.W.C. CAMPAIGN FUND

THIRTY-FIVE THOUSAND DOLLAR MARK IS NOW PASSED.

Workers Encouraged as They See the Total Growing Steadily—Many Business Men Will be Active To-Day in Solicitation—Reasons for the Life and Growth of the College are Given.

And still the good work for Illinois Woman's College goes forward. At a few minutes before 6 o'clock Thursday evening the $35,000 mark had been reached and later in the evening several hundred dollars more had been added. Before Monday night at 12 o'clock a little less than $25,000 must be forthcoming if the campaign is to succeed. At the noonday luncheon yesterday there was a larger attendance than ever and there were a number of women at the table. It is a noteworthy fact that women have been doing a splendid work in the campaign and some of the largest gifts have been from women who have made pledges to women workers.

To some of the workers no doubt it seems that the campaign is dragging, but as a matter of fact there is a steady increase and each passing hour gives reason for hope and encouragement. Today many busy merchants will give up practically all of their time to the work. There will be groups and groups of workers and there should be a goodly harvest of dollars by noon and a still greater one by 4 o'clock. The people are just beginning to get it into their hearts and minds that the situation is really serious and that the money must be forthcoming if the college is to grow and to maintain its own.

Dr. Hancher, who has of necessity been away for a day or two in Iowa, returned to Jacksonville last night and will take up his work as counselor with renewed vigor. His optimistic spirit and his faith in the college and in the general movement and his own successful record in just such work, contribute to his influence in helping out the local situation to a large degree.

Significant Figures Quoted.

At the luncheon Thursday Mrs. Lambert made a few remarks in behalf of the women who were present and told something of the work which had been done and of the expectations. C. S. Hillier spoke in a very enthusiastic line and pointed out the importance of the college to the community in a business way. He said that every dry goods man was specially interested in the maintenance and growth of the college. Dr. Harker quotes a few figures showing the increase in college expenditures. The first year of his administration the budget was about $146,000 and the past year it was over $100,000 more than the first year. If the present movement succeeds the college will continue to grow and develop and there is every reason to believe that within a few years it will show an annual distribution of expenditure in Jacksonville of $200,000.

A very explicit statement of the situation in connection with the college has just been printed in the form of a "Questionnaire." Included in this attractive bit of printing are forty-two questions and the answers thereto. On the center page is a diagram showing very explicitly with few lines and figures how the college has grown from 1893 to 1912. Just a few of the questions and answers are given herewith:

Questions and Answers.
What advantage is this college to Jacksonville and Morgan county?
It educates annually 150 daughters of Jacksonville and Morgan county. Besides keeping these daughters always in touch with home folks and within easy reach of them, it saves each daughter or the home folk or both, an annual average of $150 in the expense of education below what that expense would be if she were sent to some other woman's college.

What is the commercial advantage to Jacksonville and Morgan county?
Nearly all the more than $100,000 received by the Woman's College annually, passes through the till and banks of Jacksonville. In addition to that, probably $40,000 is paid out by the students to merchants, tradesmen, physicians, dentists, churches and other agencies annually.

That is not all. Many families establish a permanent residence in Jacksonville and spend at least $1,000 a year, annually, for living. More than fifty such families are now resident in Jacksonville.

It is reasonable to expect all that to more than double within the next ten years.

Will anyone connected with the college receive any commission or profit if the $60,000 or the total $180,000 is raised?

No!
Neither President Harker nor anyone in the service of the institution receives a commission or any share of the amount. No commission or profit will be paid to anybody.

What advance has the Illinois Woman's College made in the last twenty years?
The property has increased in value from $75,000 to $186,000. Some eight new additions have been made to the buildings; the plant has been modernized and extended in every way. The campus has been enlarged, the faculty has doubled; and the student body has grown from 50 to nearly 400.

Where did the College get the $316,000 to pay for this increase?
$20,000 of it was given by Jacksonville, and $281,000 has come from persons outside of Jacksonville. How much has been paid out for additional buildings on the college campus for the last ten years?
$248,000.

Why does the Illinois Woman's College need money?
(a) Having become a full grade standard college, more professors of college grade are required in proportion to the number of college students than in other departments.

(b) It costs $50,000 more to instruct a college student than she pays in tuition.

In many colleges it costs an extra dollar for every tuition dollar and in some, several philanthropic dollars for every tuition dollar. The average cost throughout the nation is two philanthropic dollars to one tuition-dollar.

(c) Standardization requires among other things that $180,000 be raised within the next six months.

How old is Illinois Woman's College?
It was founded in 1846 and has maintained classes continuously since. It is therefore sixty-six years old. It has a splendid history of two-thirds of a century.

Why did not the College grow more rapidly in the earlier years?

(a) The collapse of Illinois Internal Improvement Company, immediately following its early founding intensified the difficulty of procuring gifts.

(b) Years later the Civil War began, continuing from '61 to '65 and greatly retarded its growth and developing.

(c) Three disastrous fires, 1863-1870-1872 respectively added a third great hindrance to its progress; but through it all, loyal friends devoted to the lofty ideals of liberal education, rallied to its support and carried it forward.

How long has this school been a standard college of Liberal Arts?

Since 1907. Prior to 1907 it was a seminary of high grade. Beginning with that year, it has been a standard college with authority to grant degrees and with membership in the College Associations.

Board Likely to Aid.

Will the great Educational Boards ever contribute anything to the permanent endowment of the college?

It is reasonable to expect that they will when the Woman's college meets their conditions.

Already they have contributed to other woman's colleges that have met their requirements.

In what lines of service are the alumnae most successful?

In teaching and home-making.

What demand is there for additional teachers?

The number of high schools in the central west has nearly doubled in the last ten years. School boards insist on high school teachers being college graduates. Like many other colleges the Illinois Woman's college has been unable to meet the demand for well qualified high school teachers in the last five years. Do we need a woman's college?

Yes. Because many people are accepting segregated education as most desirable and are demanding it for their sons and daughters.

How many standard colleges are there west of the Mississippi river exclusively for women?

One, and that one is in California.

How many others in the north central states?

Only five; the one mentioned in Illinois, one in Wisconsin and three in Ohio. Is it not evident from answers to questions 39, 40 and 41 that there is wide room for a Woman's college in this region and, indeed, very great need for it? The fact that the attendance at the Illinois Woman's college has doubled in the last ten years would seem to fully justify the existence, maintenance and development of this institution.

AWARDS MADE IN MORGAN COUNTY FREE POULTRY SHOW

Andrew Russell Cup Won by Charles Winterbottom and City Cup by Mrs. J. W. Cleary—List of Other Awards.

Thursday evening the list of awards in the Morgan county free poultry show, which is being held in the Armory hall, was completed and the cups were awarded as follows: Andrew Russell cup, value $25, Charles Winterbottom; city cup, value $20, Mrs. J. W. Cleary; Robert Tilton cup, value $10, A. W. Foreman, White Hall; Judge Brockhouse cup, value $10, F. V. Hayes of Carrollton; Judge Heimlich cup, value $10, O. L. Donke. The display cup, value $10, was won by Mrs. J. W. Cleary and the corn sweepstakes cup, value $10, was won by P. L. Sheehan of Woodson.

A large number of visitors was present at the show Thursday and they displayed no little interest in the different exhibits. While the exhibit this year is not as large as that of last year the quality is a great deal better and the members propose to work under different rules next year, which they think will increase the number of entries. The new plan is to adopt the comparative system of judging instead of judging by score card, this system being much more up-to-date and popular. A meeting of the members of the association will be held this evening at 7:30 o'clock at Armory hall and among other matters of business, action will be taken on this new plan.

A complete list of the awards in the different events at the show follows:

Delft Peanut Oil

THE WAYS IN WHICH IT MAY BE USED

Since DELFT PEANUT OIL has been introduced in the market, it has supplanted oils of every description because of its absolute purity, unquestioned quality, delicious flavor and low price, as compared with first-class Olive Oils. It does not compete at all with Cotton Seed Oil, which is much cheaper and of far inferior quality, nor is it in competition with inferior Olive Oils and the mixed oils and so-called "Salad Oils" with which the market is flooded.

DELFT PEANUT OIL is, if not superior, in every case equal to the finest and best of the Olive Oils.

DELFT PEANUT OIL has rightly been styled "Matchless for Mayonnaise and Salad Dressings" and it is equally good for French dressing or any other variety of salad dressing. It is also used very largely for the culinary purposes of table and kitchen.

MRS. HARRIET DAVIS DIES AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Passed From Earth at 12:30 O'clock
This Morning—George F. Birkenhead Dead—Mortuary Record.

At 12:30 o'clock this morning death came to Mrs. Harriet W. Davis at Our Savior's hospital where she had been a patient sufferer for the past six weeks. Mrs. Davis had not been well for nearly two years and last June she underwent a severe surgical operation. At that time she was in the hospital for six weeks. Her condition improved but long sickness had weakened her constitution and her death resulted from a complication of diseases.

Mrs. Davis prior to her marriage was Miss Harriet Walker and she was born at St. Joseph, Mo., in March 1846. The family subsequently moved to Indiana and at Bowling Green in that state she was married to George N. Davis in 1865. A few years afterward they removed to Illinois and established a home at Exeter in Scott county and came to Jacksonville in 1882. Mr. Davis died May 31, 1904.

Mrs. Davis was a devout member of the Congregational church and her life was one which exemplified the beauty of sincere Christianity, the wonderful love and sacrificing spirit of a mother who is willing to forget all about self in living and doing for her home and children. Mrs. Davis was devoted to her home and family and there, modestly and retiringly, she spent her days and years, loved and loving. For some time Mrs. Davis has realized that for her the life journey was almost over and she was ready and willing to go. During her final days she often talked with her son Mayor George W. Davis, who seldom left her bedside, and planned for the funeral services. She chose the passages of scripture she wanted read and named the bearers and those who were to sing and to have charge of the flowers. In accordance with her expressed wish the funeral will be at the family home on South West street and will be private in character.

Mrs. Davis is survived by two daughters and two sons, Walter Davis of San Diego, Calif., Mrs. Charles Rogers of Muskogee, Okla., George W. Davis and Mrs. Dorothy Myers at home.

The funeral will be held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home on South West street and will be in charge of Dr. R. O. Post. Interment will be in Diamond Grove cemetery.

Stubblefield

Calvin Stubblefield, a well known resident of Alexander, died Thursday morning at 12:30 o'clock at his home at that place after a brief illness. The deceased was taken with a stroke of apoplexy Wednesday morning and never regained consciousness.

Calvin Stubblefield was born October 2, 1856 in Greene County near Roodhouse and was a son of Joseph and Elizabeth Stubblefield. The father died a number of years ago and the deceased has been making his home with his mother in Alexander. He attracted quite a little attention on account of his diminutive height and was always sensitive about it. He was a traction engineer by occupation and when not at work spent a great deal of time in studying history. The deceased was a man who was admired by a large circle of friends and who was devoted to his mother. Besides his mother he is survived by the following brothers and one sister: Harvey and James Stubblefield of this city, T. M. and Ted Stubblefield of Oklahoma City, Okla., J. M. Stubblefield of St. Louis and Mrs. E. E. Mason of Alexander.

Funeral services will be held Sunday morning at 10 o'clock at the Alexander M. E. church in charge of Rev. N. R. Johnson and interment will be made in Antioch cemetery.

Short

The remains of John Franklin Short, who died at Passavant hospital, were taken to Waverly Thursday morning via the Burlington, where funeral services were held and interment was made Thursday afternoon at 1 o'clock.

Cosgriff

She was the widow of the late Josiah Hurie and is survived by three children, John S. Hurie of Petersburg, Mrs. Frances Sharpe of Oklahoma City and Mrs. Mary Quigg. She was the grandmother of Earl J. Hurie and Wiley Linn Hurie, who graduated from Illinois college in 1906.

Finn

The funeral services of James Finn, were conducted Thursday morning at 10 o'clock from the family residence in Murrayville, in charge of Rev. J. A. Biddle of the M. E. church. Music was given by Mrs. Charles Short, Mrs. W. B. Wright, J. H. Dial and Geo. Coultas. The flowers were cared for by Mrs. Harry Strain.

The remains were brought to this city and placed in the receiving vault at Diamond Grove cemetery. The bearers were John Warcup, Dr. W. A. Wesner, J. H. Dial, Oliver Berdles, Edward Whitlock and Thomas Bush.

George F. Birkenhead passed from earth late Thursday afternoon at his residence, 1006 East Independence avenue. The deceased was about 47 years of age and had been a resident of Jacksonville for a long period. As a young man Mr. Birkenhead entered upon railroad work and quickly rose to the position of locomotive engineer. For a long period he served as an engineer on the C. & P. & St. L., his locomotive pulling one of the best trains on the road.

COUNTRY HAS BEEN RAILROAD MAD

CHARGE IS MADE BY GOVERNOR FOSS AT RICHMOND CONFERENCE.

Massachusetts Executive Declares Development of Railroads and Neglect of Water Works Has Had a Deadening Effect on Country's Commerce—Tells About European Methods.

Richmond, Va., Dec. 5.—"The country has gone railroad mad," said Governor Eugene N. Foss of Massachusetts to day in an address before the conference of governors, designed to arouse public sentiment to concerted action in the development of inland waterways. He said he was speaking conservatively when he asserted that a transportation crisis faced the country and that the key to the situation lay in the development of waterways.

Governor Foss declared that for fifty years the financial and business interests of the country had concentrated the greater part of their energies on the construction and extension of railroad service. Transportation interests, he said, practically had been surrendered into the hands of the railroads.

Reciting statistics, the speaker said that during the entire progress of transportation development in the United States, only a little more than five hundred millions had been expended on rivers and harbors as against twelve hundred millions for railroads. He compared the situation in this country with those in European countries, where the expenditures had been more nearly equalized. The policy of this country, taken in connection with our peculiar tariff system, said the speaker, "has resulted in stunting our foreign commerce of transportation, one of the most vital considerations of American life, to the private needs of the railroads."

"Consequently, freight rates have reached a point many times as high as they would if an effective water competition existed, and the cost of freight is one of the principal factors entering into the cost of living."

Water Traffic Cheapest.

After reviewing the deep seated and vexatious problems connected with the question of railroad regulation the governor said that as water traffic is the cheapest known means of transportation, it is remarkable that more attention is not centered on waterway development as one of the most effective means of meeting the railroad situation, and compelling a fair railroad rate.

"It is remarkable that the railroad systems of America have been so successful in choking off water competition," said the governor, "in buying up our water terminals and leaving them unused, and in preventing proper recognition by congress of our waterways as the natural avenues of commerce."

Governor Foss gave the average charge per ton-mile for freight of American railroads at 7 1/2 mills and contrasted this charge with that of 1-1/2 of a mill on the great lakes, making the water charge less than 1-3 that of the rail charge. An even more significant comparison, he said, was the fact that during the season when the great lakes and their tributary channels are freely open to navigation the railroads reduce to about one-quarter of their usual charge.

"And yet," said the speaker in commenting upon what he declared to be a stifling of competition, "instead of maintaining this natural competition between waterways and railroads as the most effective possible stimulus to industry, we have abandoned most of our earlier waterway projects.

"Not only have we abandoned them, but we have also permitted their confiscation by the railroads. And where the water traffic itself is not dominated by the railroad, we have permitted the railroads to utilize the old canal beds for their own right of way—a remarkably effective means of choking off any attempted restoration of the canal project itself."

The European Way.

Governor Foss gave what proved to be an unusually interesting review of waterway development in Europe, reciting in detail the gigantic expenditures made to develop inland ports surrounded by natural resources to manufacture. Such expenditures, he said, represented the most effective possible means of checking the aggrandizement of the railroads or the inflation of railroad rates under railroad control.

"It is for these very reasons that our waterway development must proceed under the public auspices of state and nation," said the governor, "and must be pushed as a work of public exigency, just as the Panama canal has been pushed, irrespective of any railroad influence. Still the railroads are dependent solely upon the prosperity of the district which they serve, and this prosperity increases in proportion as we open up cheap transportation for low freights. This we can only do with the help of the canal."

"We are still congesting our railroads with a mass of cheap, low grade freights which they cannot carry conveniently. We cannot get satisfactory service from the railroads for the shipment of our factory products so long as these roads are tied up with undelivered shipments of coal, pig iron and other raw materials."

"Our railroads have been afraid of canal development from the most narrow minded reasons, and their successful activity in defeating our canal projects has reacted disastrously upon themselves."

New York and Boston, according to the speaker, have only fifty per cent territorial efficiency because they face directly on the ocean, and Chicago pays likewise for its location on Lake Michigan. In contrast the governor mentioned Hamburg, Manchester, London and Glasgow as examples of the European method of developing seaports surrounded by vast producing territory and possessing strategic commercial advantages.

anama at Heart of System.

"By digging the Panama canal we have struck at the heart of the transportation problem," said the governor. "We are obtaining for ourselves by concerted public action the type of transportation which potentially is many times cheaper than railroad transportation, and congress, by the sections of the Panama canal act with respect to the ownership of steamships by railroads, has taken action to make this potential value real. We are thus beginning to see the utility of water borne transportation as a natural means of controlling railroad monopoly."

The lakes to the gulf waterway, the Atlantic deeper waterways project, and the Erie canal were mentioned as the more important of the remaining projects on foot for the reconstruction of the American commercial supremacy. He thought that the inland waterways should all be of sufficient depth to make water handling of freight as economical as possible, and in that connection criticized the Erie system. With the Canadian system making possible the carrying of an unbroken cargo of 80,000 bushels of grain, as against 8,000 on the Erie, the governor indicated the belief that Canada would flank this country commercially.

POINTS TO LOSS FROM TYPHOID FEVER CASES

Dr. McLaughlin at Health Conference Says That 175,000 Deaths Annually From This Disease Could be Prevented by Education—Pure Water Supplies Best Remedy.

New York, Dec. 5.—One hundred and seventy-five thousand cases of typhoid fever annually in this country could be prevented by a campaign of education, with an annual saving of 1,200 lives, in the opinion of Dr. Allan J. McLaughlin of the United States Public Health Service, voiced today in an address before the sixth annual convention of the Association of Life Insurance Presidents in New York. Dr. McLaughlin declared:

That the economic loss caused by typhoid fever in this country, is $100,000,000 a year. That in 50 of the largest American cities the typhoid fever death rate averaged 25 persons per 100,000 population as against 5.6 persons per 100,000 population for 33 leading cities of Northern Europe.

That in 1909 there were more cases of typhoid fever in the United States than there were cases of plague in India.

That every case of typhoid fever was due to somebody's ignorance or carelessness.

In part Dr. McLaughlin said: "Twenty deaths per 100,000 probably represent two hundred cases of typhoid fever. Suppose 200 cases of Asiatic cholera occurred in any American city of 100,000 population. Would not strenuous activity be displayed for the eradication of the scourge? Although the mortality rate of typhoid fever is lower than that of cholera, yet typhoid fever is transmissible in more ways, is more expensive in its lingering course, and more disastrous in its sequels than Asiatic cholera."

"The mental attitude toward typhoid fever displayed by many physicians and especially health officers is scarcely more commendable. Their complacency in the face of typhoid fever rates above twenty deaths annually per 100,000 population, is difficult to explain. If the rate is below twenty, many municipal officials are inclined to be satisfied with this rate, as it is low compared with less fortunate cities."

Dr. McLaughlin then compared the typhoid fever death rate of fifteen large Northern European cities with fifteen of the largest American cities in 1910 as follows: European cities: Edinburgh, 1.3 per 100,000; Munich, 1.4; Stockholm, 1.8; Dresden, 2.2; Antwerp, 2.3; Berlin, 2.9; London, 3.3; Copenhagen, 3.6; Vienna, 3.8; Liverpool, 3.9; Belfast, 3.9; Birmingham, 3.9; Hamburg, 4.1; Lyon, 4.4; Paris, 5.6. American cities: Cincinnati, 8.8 per 100,000; Boston, 11.3; Jersey City, 11.5; New York, 11.6; Newark, 13.1; Chicago, 13.7; St. Louis, 14.9; Philadelphia, 17.5; Cleveland, 17.9; Buffalo, 20.0; Detroit, 23.6; Washington, 23.2; Pittsburgh, 27.8; Milwaukee, 45.7; Minneapolis, 58.7.

In 1909 there were more cases of typhoid fever in the United States than there were cases of plague in India, in spite of the fact that India's population is two and one-half times that of the United States," said Dr. McLaughlin. "From January, 1907, to October, 1911, there occurred in Russia, 283,684 cases of Asiatic cholera. This included the appalling epidemic of 1910. According to a conservative estimate, there occurred in the United States during the same period one million and a quarter cases of typhoid fever in the United States for every case of cholera in Russia."

"No single measure in reducing typhoid fever on a large scale approaches the effect of substituting a safe for a polluted water supply. Every case of typhoid fever is due to somebody's ignorance or carelessness."

Now in regard to carelessness or criminal negligence, the punishment should fit the crime, but for ignorance the remedy is not punishment but education. It is precisely in this matter of education that your association can achieve the greatest good. The educational campaign must be directed against improper disposal of sewage, impure milk supplies, flies, uncontrolled cases of typhoid, filthy personal habits of individuals, and, above all, against contaminated public water supplies."

QUICK RELIEF FOR RHEUMATISM.

George W. Koons, Lawton, Mich., says: "Dr. Detchon's Relief for Rheumatism has given my wife wonderful benefit for rheumatism. She could not lift hand or foot, had to be lifted for two months. She began the use of the remedy and improved rapidly. On Monday she could move and on Wednesday she got up, dressed herself and walked out for breakfast." Sold by L. P. Alcott, druggist.

"FAGGED-OUT" WOMEN.

Will Find a Helpful Suggestion in This Letter.

Overworked, run down "fagged out" women who feel as though they could hardly drag about, should profit by Miss Richter's experience. She says: "Last winter I was completely run down and felt fagged out all the time, was nervous and had indigestion."

"One of my friends advised me to take Vinol and it has done me great good. The tired, worn-out feeling is all gone and I am strong, vigorous and well. The stomach trouble soon disappeared and now I eat heartily and have perfect digestion. I wish every tired, weak, nervous woman could have Vinol, for I never spent any money in my life that did me so much good as that I spent for Vinol."

Thousands of women and men who were formerly weak and sickly owe their present rugged health to the wonderful strength-creating effects of Vinol. We guarantee Vinol to build you up and make you strong. If it does not we give back your money. Lee P. Alcott, druggist, Jacksonville, Ill.

GREAT CORN YIELD.

Lad in McKinley Contest Raised 122.6 Bushels on an Acre.

An item in the Farmer City Journal gives the experience of Ivan Houser, the son of Frank Houser, in raising 122.6 bushels of corn on one acre. He was in the McKinley contest open to boys in the 19th district.

In his essay Houser says:

"I spread 21 loads of stable manure on the seven acre field which had been in pasture a number of years. The stalks were disked and plowed under. The ground was too wet to plow until May. It was plowed six to eight inches deep and harrowed twice. I picked out 1 1/2 bushels of the very best ears from 15 bushels of yellow dent seed corn and drilled it May 23 in rows three feet, four inches apart, dropping the grains every seven to ten inches."

"By June 12 the corn was six inches high; plowed it with a Tower surface cultivator. All weeds were killed between the rows and the others covered up, and the ground was plowed deep enough to loosen and thoroughly pulverize it so it would hold the moisture. Cultivated again June 24 in the same way. The corn grew so fast it was too tall to be plowed with third time and I cut the weeds with a hoe and removed some of the smallest stalks that were too close together. The corn was dry and standing up well when I began husking it, November 2. I gathered 122.6 bushels of corn off a measured acre, 120x363 feet. The expense of raising this acre was $15.52, one-seventh of the expense of the seven acre plot."

Ivan has every item of the expense with every hour and minute of the work set down, and the items in order are: Disking, 19c; plowing, 32c, and 32c; harrowing, 13c; planting, 17c; harrowing, 17c; cultivating, 25c; hoeing, 6c; husking $2.40; rent for land, $5; 3 loads of manure, $6; seed corn, 35c; total $15.52.

GOOD OUTLOOK FOR CHRISTMAS TRADE

New York, Dec. 5.—Christmas buying began early in the metropolis this year and the merchants are looking forward to a profitable season. Their optimism is strengthened by the announcement of many of the leading hotels that practically every accommodation has been reserved for the next few weeks by out-of-town shoppers.

The streets in the retail business district are already congested, the curbstone merchants have made their annual appearance, and other outward indications are abundant that the holiday season is at hand.

The window displays are, if anything, more elaborate than ever. The toy wonderlands, especially, are magnets for the crowds and apparently are as attractive to the grown-ups as to the youngsters. A glance at the windows is convincing proof that the toymakers keep well abreast of the times. Mechanical toys, such as railroads, motor cars, aeroplanes and dirigible balloons, are displayed in profusion, but among the most striking novelties of the year are the miniature representatives of the Turkish, Greek, Bulgarian and other soldiers in the Balkan war. Even the Red Cross nurse and the aeroplane scout have not been neglected by the toymaker.

EDUCATION FOR INDUSTRY.

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 6.—Every phase of vocational training is to be discussed by experts at the sixth annual convention of the National Society for the Promotion of Industrial Education, which met in this city today for a three days' session. Congressman William C. Redfield of Brooklyn, is the president of the society.

MONUMENT UNVEILED.

Birmingham, Ala., Dec. 5.—Congressman Richmond P. Hobson delivered the oration at the unveiling here today of a memorial in honor of the revolutionary soldiers buried in Jefferson county. Delegates to the state conference of the D. A. R., now in session here, attended the exercises in a body.

BIG FOWL SHOW IN CREAM CITY.

Milwaukee, Wis., Dec. 5.—The annual show of the Wisconsin Poultry and Pet Stock association opened here today in the auditorium. Several thousand birds, prize winners from various parts of Wisconsin, Minnesota, Illinois, Iowa and other states, are on exhibition, and the judges say the quality has never been excelled.

Healthy Mothers

Women who bear children and remain healthy are those who prepare their systems in advance of baby's coming. Unless the mother aids nature in its pre-natal work the crisis finds her system unequal to the demands made upon it, and she is often left with weakened health or chronic ailments. No remedy is so truly a help to nature as Mother's Friend, and no expectant mother should fail to use it. It relieves the pain and discomfort caused by the strain on the ligaments, makes pliant and elastic those fibres and muscles which nature is expanding, prevents numbness of limbs, and soothes the inflammation of breast glands. The system being thus prepared by Mother's Friend dispels the fear that the crisis may not be safely met. Mother's Friend assures a speedy and complete recovery for the mother, and she is left a healthy woman to enjoy the rearing of her child. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores. Write for our free book for expectant mothers which contains much valuable information, and many suggestions of a helpful nature.

ARTHUR REEVE IS NAMED AS CAPTAIN

WILL LEAD J. H. S. FOOTBALL ELEVEN NEXT SEASON.

Thomas Hale is Chosen Captain of the Basketball Team and a Strong Schedule is Announced—Students to Hold Carnival—Stewart Picked on All State Eleven.

With the football bid until September, 1913, the Jacksonville high school football men turned their attention yesterday to the selection of a captain next season, and the honors came unanimously to Arthur Reeve, who will be graduated next June. Reeve was one of the main stays of the local eleven this past season and is deserving of the honors, which have been given him. He is a hard working fellow and during his two years with the team has made his work count.

Hale Pilots Basketball Team. Basketball is now the talk among the high school athletics and the institution promises to turn out a better team than last year. At the business meeting held yesterday Thomas Hale was chosen captain of the team. He is a senior this year and has played on the team for two seasons. Coach Buland expects to have a good squad, from which to pick five or six among the prospects are Hale, Boxell, Chipchase, Reeve, Maddox, Fry and Reynolds.

Schedule of Basketball Games. Manager William Allcott has been busy corresponding with various schools for games. As the schedule looks now the following schools will be played:

Petersburg (two games).
Springfield (two games).
Peoria (two games).
Canton (two games).
Bloomington (probably).

The first game of the season will likely be played with Petersburg and this will give the coach a chance to get a line on his men. Manager Allcott is in receipt of a letter from the manager of the Batavia high school basketball team. In it he states that Batavia is planning a tour of games through Central and Southern Illinois from December 14 until January 2. It will be remembered that Batavia had a state championship team last year and it is understood that their men are about as strong as ever. It is not probable that J. H. S. will schedule a game with them on account of the local men not having enough practice. The Batavia men have been in basketball training since the beginning of the school year.

Stewart on All-State 11. According to a football critic in Chicago, Clayton Stewart of the J. H. S. eleven has been picked in the All-State eleven at right tackle. The other schools included are: Champaign, Springfield, Decatur and Tuscola. The honorary eleven named follows:

Center—Sanders, Tuscola.
Right guard—Jenkins, Decatur.
Right tackle—Stewart, Jacksonville.

Right end—Finnegan, Capt. Champaign.
Quarterback—Fay, Urbana.
Right halfback—Moore, Champaign.
Full back—Songer, Decatur.

Basketball at Springfield.

Springfield high school is figuring on one of the strongest basketball teams in recent years. Captain Frisbie, the star football player of Springfield, will be in the game and with him, Schneider and Schenbacher as a nucleus, the team will be formed. Springfield has scheduled two games apiece with Jacksonville, Peoria, Decatur and Bloomington. They believe these teams to be the strongest in the state and by playing these towns a better estimate can be obtained when it comes to deciding championship honors. Springfield also expects to play a number of other teams during the season. The capital city schedule is as follows:

Jan. 17—Decatur at Springfield.
Jan. 21—Canton at Springfield.
Feb. 1—Peoria at Peoria.
Feb. 7—Jacksonville at Springfield.
Feb. 14—Bloomington at Bloomington.

Feb. 21-22—State basketball tournament.
Feb. 28—Decatur at Decatur.
March 7—Peoria at Springfield.
March 14—Bloomington at Springfield.

Will Hold Carnival. The local high school management is planning to hold a big carnival on December 13th at the high school, for the benefit of the Athletic Association. There will be all sorts of side shows, booths, minstrel shows, etc., and the association expects to give the public the worth of their money in the way of entertainment. The committees will be appointed soon to look after the details of the carnival. The affair, heretofore has always taken place at Thanksgiving, but on account of the football team going to Springfield, the date was changed.

To Present "J's." Plans are being made for the presentation of the "J's" to the football men at the first student meeting. The emblems will be presented by Mayor Davis.

PROBATE COURT.

AGED BUFFALO LEADER DIES OF BROKEN HEART

Was Deposed From Leadership by Mutilous Herd Three Weeks Ago and Never Held Up His Head Again.

Topeka, Kan., Dec. 5.—"Old Joshua" an aged Buffalo, past leader of the herd in Gage park here, died today of a broken heart, his keepers say. For fifteen years the old bull headed the herd which until two years ago ran in the open in Michigan. Three weeks ago he was deposed by his mutinous band, the mutiny being led by his own offspring, a young bull who now occupies the throne of his sire. The herd is owned by the city. One of the keepers said today:

"Old Joshua's overthrow undoubtedly caused his death. It is as clear a case of broken heart as ever appeared among humans. Several months ago we noticed something was brewing among the ten Buffalos. They were restless and easily angered. The climax came three weeks ago. The entire herd, led by a young bull, Joshua's offspring, pitched into the leader. He fought nobly for three hours. Then his old legs failed him. The herd let up then. Their chief lay in a corner of the pasture, cut, bruised, deposed.

"Under their new leader the herd pranced, stamped and bellowed about Joshua until nightfall. Joshua never again held up his head. He must have welcomed death as a blessing."

TALK OF EIGHT CLUBS.

Macomb Journal: Dope relative to the I-M accepting Jacksonville and Hannibal as members and enlarging to eight clubs has been going the rounds for some time. Both cities appear favorable to the proposition and well they might for they have paid more money for poorer ball on other occasions. A sporting writer in Hannibal says:

As you know we were ousted from the Central association over a week ago, not because the city had failed to fulfill the league requirements, but because of Waterloo and Cedar Rapids wanting in. Therefore a more compact circuit could be obtained.

As far as class of baseball is concerned the local fans believe they would prefer I-M class over the C. A., as we had our first professional ball in that league, and Hannibal always was friendly toward that organization.

WINS SUIT AGAINST BANKER.

Chicago, Dec. 5.—Mrs. Antonio Pospisil won a suit here today against Frank G. Hajicek, who formerly conducted a private bank in Chicago. She was awarded $900 by the jury, the full amount for which she sued, asserting that she had deposited $1,200 in Hajicek's private bank, while the banker testified that his records showed that she only deposited $300.

WICKERSHAM DISCUSSES EVIDENCE AGAINST CORPORATIONS

Will Determine Whether Government Should Dismiss Any of the Charges Because of Lack of Evidence.

Washington, Dec. 5.—Attorney General Wickersham today called into conference Charles G. Morrison, in charge of big oil investigation of the department of justice and William H. Atwell, U. S. attorney, at Dallas, Texas, to determine whether the government should dismiss for lack of evidence any of the indictments, especially those against Standard Oil officials returned at Dallas last August for the alleged violation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

The service of the warrants for the arrest of John D. Archbald, H. C. Folger, Jr., and W. T. Leibel of the Standard Oil, indicted with others at Dallas in connection with the case against the Magnolia Petroleum Co., is being held up by order of the attorney general because Mr. Wickersham states that the evidence which so far has been brought to his attention did not justify their indictment and would not warrant removal proceedings.

No conclusion was reached at the conference. Others will be held.

A Secret Andrew Lang Kept.

Andrew Lang unraveled many historical puzzles, but there was one mystery the secret of which he knew but would not tell. He knew the truth about the famous murder of which Alan Breck was suspected and for which James Stewart was hanged. Stevenson in "Kidnapped" lays the crime to the account of a mysterious companion of Alan's, and in so far that neither Alan nor James was the murderer he was right, said Mr. Lang. But the identity of the assassin was a clan secret, revealed to Mr. Lang as a fellow clansman, and he refused to make it public.

The Crayfish.

A curious mistake occurs in the word crayfish. The name was borrowed from the French, who call this lobsterlike animal ecrevisse. The English thought that because it lived in the water it must be a fish, says the Raja Yoga Messenger, and so we always call it the crayfish. Of course the little creature is no more a fish than a seal is a fish, or a sponge or an oyster, although they also live in the water.

IS ATTRACTIVE WINDOW.

The Christmas window of the clothing house of Myers Bros. is attracting a little attention. A stand has been constructed to imitate stone and is about seven feet in height. The top has a square effect in the center of which a light has been placed showing some beautiful winter scenes. The design is most artistic and one has to go to the larger cities to see its equal.

Milady's Mirror

The New Beauty Stunt.

"Come, have a game of grace hoops with me," said a girl recently. "Stand over there and catch the hoop on these sticks when I toss it to you from mine."

"Why play grace hoops? It's such a silly, childish game. Let's have a game of bridge."

"This is my hour for exercise. I cannot neglect it, even for bridge. You, too, would do well to take more healthful exercise. You are really getting too stout."

"Too stout? Horrors! Do tell me what I can do to keep myself slender, yet in good physical condition."

"It's really quite simple. I have found a way that, for me at least, takes the place of any expensive 'exerciser' I could buy. Watch while I give you a demonstration of the many splendid exercises that can be practiced with a child's hoop."

"Every day I take what time I can for this—sometimes it's an hour, sometimes less—but always twenty minutes or more."

"For agility I begin and conclude with the grace hoops. Yes, it does give grace, for if one is light on her feet, agile, she is pretty sure to possess a fair amount of grace. I toss the hoop into the air from the points of the sticks, then catch it on them again as it descends. If any one will play with me we enjoy an active game, tossing the hoop from one to the other, trying not to let it fall, for that would count a point against the one who did."

"Then I take this large hoop and use it as a jumping rope. That keeps the muscles of my fingers, forearm, shoulders and lower limbs in good condition. I started by jumping through the hoop five times, but now I can do it twenty-five times without trouble."

"After a great deal of practice I have learned to balance the hoop on the stick—this for steadiness of nerve and poise. That is an excellent exercise, but quite difficult to accomplish, but it is worth the trouble to learn in the beneficial results obtained."

"I use these two embroidery hoops in place of dumbbells. You know the weight of dumbbells has very little effect upon the muscular development. They only serve as a means of exercise. One can get the same results with these little hoops or with any other article that can be conveniently held in the hands, for that matter, if one will imagine that they are heavy dumbbells and lift them with all the force necessary to employ with the real article."

"I let my arms hang loosely at the sides, grasping the hoops firmly in each hand, then raise them even with the shoulders and lower them five times, lifting them slowly, as if their weight were great; then five times over my head; in front of my body, where they touch each time; then I bend and touch the floor and last touch them behind my back. Oh, it's a fine general exercise! It limbers up my muscles and sets the blood circulating through my body splendidly."

Give Your Eyes a Holiday.

Everybody should give his eyes a day's holiday at least once a month, says a writer. In the present age we experience far more strain owing to increasing reading habits and multitudes of glaring lights than our forefathers did and we suffer more from headaches. Therefore give your eyes a holiday as frequently as possible. Give them a day's absolute rest and the relief next day will be most refreshing. When taking an eye holiday a room with green wall paper is a good place to rest in if one cannot get to the country among nature's green fields and woods. Green rests the eyes more than any other color.

Rest and Good Looks.

Every woman should learn to rest if she is anxious to keep her good looks. The one who leads a very busy life should acquire the habit of availing herself of every few spare minutes for this purpose. Let her analyze the art of relaxation and practice it in this way:

Hang the arms loosely at the side and then begin to move them slowly backward and forward from side to side. Now open the fingers wide and shake the hands loosely from the wrists and after this practice the same exercise with the legs and feet.

The Injurious Veil.

Over and over for generations the thing has been told that women injure their eyes with the veils they wear—thin mesh, heavy mesh, spotted and figured—all kinds of veils. Now comes an addition to this old time information, which never caused one veil less. It is said that the veil causes, first, eye strain, then headache, nervousness, wrinkles and finally general and serious nervous disorders. This would seem to indicate that the game is not worth the candle.

The Revival of Combs.

The latest fashion notes from Paris say that elaborate combs will be worn again the coming season. Some are fan shaped; others are narrow and curved to fit around the back of the head just over a heavy roll low on the neck. This shape is very pretty for young women. The fan shape is better suited for those of riper years.

Fine Remedy for A Backward Child

Continue It for Only a Brief Period and the Good Results Will Surprise You.

A low state of the general health is now the accepted cause of backwardness in children. So in the case of a backward child it is best to look towards building up its health. It will usually be found that the main trouble is in the food, in lack of assimilation and digestion. Hence care should be taken in the kind of food given to the child. This, with plenty of air and exercise, should bring about a change for the better.

Watch the condition of the bowels, to note whether the waste is being passed off or not, or whether it is being passed too freely. If either condition prevails give a small dose of that gentilest of all laxative-tonics, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Those who have used it testify to the wonders it has wrought in the lives of their own children, and for that reason legions of families like those of the parents of Melvin Babler, Van Dyne, Wis., and Mrs. Sarah E. Walker, 4013 Summit St., Kansas City, Mo., are never without it in the house. It is pleasant to the taste and so perfectly safe that it is given to infants, and yet is equally effective for grown people. All druggists sell it and the price is only fifty cents and one dollar a bottle, the latter for families who need it regularly.

Syrup Pepsin has no equal as a cure for constipation, indigestion, biliousness, headaches, sour stomach, gas on the stomach, liver trouble and kindred complaints. It has so many advantages that those who once use it forever after discard cathartics, salts, pills and other coarse remedies, for they are seldom advisable and should never be given to children. If no member of your family has ever used Syrup Pepsin and you would like to make a personal trial of it before buying it in the regular way of a druggist, send your address—a postal will do—to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 413 Washington St., Monticello, Ill., and a free sample bottle will be mailed you. Results are always guaranteed or money will be refunded.

QUEER OLD MINES

The Orpiment Workings In the Snow Clad Himalayas.

A DAZZLING BLAZE OF COLOR.

Splendors of the Dismal Mineral Pits as They Sparkle In a Brilliant Mosaic of Gold and Rubies In the Light of the Flashing Torches.

High on the flanks of Tirich Mir, one of the snow clad giant Himalayas of Chitral, are the old mines where orpiment is found. Orpiment is a flaky, flexible mineral, a compound of arsenic and sulphur, the basis of certain beautiful yellow pigments, the auripigmentum of the ancients. In "Sport and Life in the Farther Himalayas" Major Kennion describes his visit to these workings, the first visit to them, he was told, ever made by a European:

"The holes through which the mines are entered are in the face of a precipitous rock and are reached by a narrow, downward sloping ledge. They were about large enough for a hyena to walk into without inconvenience.

"On my arrival five or six men with bloodshot eyes and faces covered with yellow dust crawled out. Although not injurious to health, the orpiment, I was told, affected the hands of the miners in a peculiar way. That was obvious enough. The hands of many of the men I saw were shrunk to the bone, of a dark slaty color and covered with knots and excrescences.

"I told my guide to lead on, and he disappeared into one of the holes. I followed more deliberately, surprised at being able to get in at all. After crawling a few yards we found ourselves in a small chamber about eighteen feet long, in which a man could stand upright. The air was fresher than I had expected, but there was no orpiment in sight.

"In the farther corner there was what looked like a well, and toward this my guide led me. Following his example, I sat on the floor and let myself down feet foremost into this dark and narrow hole. The shaft did not go straight down, and on the whole it was easier to descend than a factory chimney, for here and there were projecting ledges on which you could rest your toes. But for any one except a sweep or an orpiment miner it was difficult enough.

"After descending some twenty feet I felt my legs swinging in space, a hand grasped one foot, guided it to a rock and I let myself down on solid earth. I was in another chamber, smaller than the first and stiffer. But still there was no orpiment.

"A hole appeared to lead away in a downward direction from the farther end of the chamber, and on one side a lot of debris had fallen. My guide cheerfully told me that this was the grave of eight men, who had been buried under this fall of stone while working at the end of the passage.

"My guide now disappeared into the hole and I had to follow. There was no room to crawl—you had to lie down and work yourself along with your toes. The air was foul and full of sulphurous dust. If it had been possible to turn round and retreat I think I should have done so. After traversing forty feet, which seemed as many miles, in this painful manner we reached another chamber, in which it was possible to sit up.

"Here at last was the orpiment, and it was almost worth the trouble of coming to see. Except where the roof was blackened by our torches—the miners do their work in the dark for the sake of purer air—the walls of the mine seemed a dazzling, scintillating mosaic of gold and rubies. The light was thrown back from an infinite number of glittering points, in which every shade of red and yellow, from the deepest ruby to the most brilliant scarlet, from old gold to the palest sulphur, was intermingled to form an indescribable blaze of color.

"After admiring the fascinating glitter and gleam and ever changing blaze of beautiful color of this display of subterranean splendor for awhile and breaking off a few specimens of various hues I began to long for the upper air. So we began the ascent from Avernus, which I was pleased to find considerably easier than the descent."

Just the Same.

"Do you act toward your wife as you did before you married her?"

"Exactly. I remember just how I used to act when I first fell in love with her. I used to hang over the fence in front of her house and gaze at her shadow on the curtain, afraid to go in. And I act just the same way now when I get home late."

Not So Very Unexpected.

"Ada, dearest Ada, will you be mine?"

"Oh, Charles, this is so unexpected! You must give me a little time."

"How long, darling?"

"Oh, I will just call mamma. She is waiting in the next room."—Fliegende Blätter.

Retribution.

"Oh, George, who opened the canary's cage?"

"I did. You told me a little bird was whispering to you when I was naughty, so I knew it must be him, as there was no other little bird about, so I opened the cage and the cat's eaten him!"

Anxiety does not empty tomorrow of its sorrow; it empties today of its strength.—Maclaren.

WICKERSHAM DEFENDS ANTI-TRUST LAW

Attorney General Declares That No Amendment Is Needed—Points to Accomplishments Under the Act—Suits Soon to Begin for Recovery of Valuable Oil Lands.

Washington, Dec. 5.—The Sherman anti-trust law is proving its adequacy as a civil statute and there is no necessity for the much discussed proposed amendment particularizing unlawful practices in restraint of trade, according to George W. Wickersham, attorney general of the United States, in his annual report submitted to congress today.

On the other hand, however, the attorney general does not pass judgment upon the efficiency of the anti-trust act as a criminal statute. He merely says:

"The experience of the last year in endeavoring to enforce criminal liability under the Sherman law has not been encouraging." The attorney general defends the commerce court, the abolition of which was attempted at the last session of congress. A return to the old method of distributing litigation arising from the orders of the interstate commerce commission to the district courts would be injurious to the interests of the public and delay the administration of justice, says Mr. Wickersham.

Drawing conclusions from the decrees of dissolution and injunction which already have been entered under the Sherman law, Mr. Wickersham maintains that the federal courts are exercising in equity suits a power to restrain which is co-extensive with the evils against which the Sherman law was enacted. The courts have found no difficulty, he adds, in applying the terms of the law to meet and enjoin the continuance of any form of unfair competition which has resulted in imposing an undue restraint upon interstate commerce or which makes for monopoly.

No Amendment Necessary. These decrees, the attorney general continues, demonstrate that the amendment of the law in the direction of declaring the illegality of particular practices is necessary to clothe the courts with full power to prevent any and all acts which may be employed to accomplish the illegal purposes denounced by the statute.

"I am strongly of the opinion," says Mr. Wickersham, "that the advocacy of amendments of the law which shall particularize different acts as constituting unlawful restraints or attempts at monopoly has its origin, not so much with those who desire the enforcement of the law, as with those who are anxious to secure a safe means of its evasion. An enumeration by statute of the different practices which, in and of themselves, without regard to the circumstances of particular cases, should be declared illegal will either go too far or not far enough."

The suit against the "Coffee Trust" of the Brazilian valorization scheme, the operations of which, the attorney general says has resulted in more than doubling the retail price of coffee to the American consumer and thereby laying a heavy tax upon him, has developed what the attorney general regards as a defect in the still operative section of the Wilson tariff law dealing with combinations. Pointing to the fact that the government was unable to secure a temporary injunction restraining the exportation of 920,000 bags of coffee, said to be stored in New York city under the valorization scheme, the attorney general recommends the enactment of an amendment to the Wilson law, authorizing the seizure by the government in the state of entry of merchandise imported for the purposes of unlawful combinations. Pending the fact that the government was unable to secure a temporary injunction restraining the exportation of 920,000 bags of coffee, said to be stored in New York city under the valorization scheme, the attorney general recommends the enactment of an amendment to the Wilson law, authorizing the seizure by the government in the state of entry of merchandise imported for the purposes of unlawful combinations. Pending the fact that the government was unable to secure a temporary injunction restraining the exportation of 920,000 bags of coffee, said to be stored in New York city under the valorization scheme, the attorney general recommends the enactment of an amendment to the Wilson law, authorizing the seizure by the government in the state of entry of merchandise imported for the purposes of unlawful combinations.

Beef Packer Case. The voluntary dissolution of the National Packing company, following the acquittal at Chicago of the beef packers of criminal violation of the Sherman law, has accomplished, in the belief of the attorney general, "a substantial restoration of competitive conditions in a very large industry which have not for a long time heretofore existed."

Objections to the commerce court in the judgment of Mr. Wickersham would be met by legislation requiring the interstate commerce commission to state in its report, as a basis for its order, the findings of fact and the reasons on which the order is based; providing that all findings of fact and conclusions of policy appearing in the report shall be final and conclusive; and limiting court review exclusively to questions of law arising upon the commissioner's report.

As a result of the decision of the supreme court holding that orders of the interstate commerce commission, the attorney general recommends that the law be amended so that the commerce court will have jurisdiction to review all orders of law in respect to orders of the commission which deny relief to shippers or others, just as the court now has power to review orders granting relief. The practical result of the present situation, he adds, is that relief against errors of law by the commission is limited to the railroads and denied to the shippers.

Will Seek to Recover Oil Lands. The attorney general announces his intention of soon filing suits in equity against the Southern Pacific railroad company and others for the recovery of vast areas of petroleum bearing lands in California said to be worth more than $500,000,000. The legislation under which the patents were granted to the railroad company he says excepted mineral lands other than iron or coal lands. The railroad company contends, according to the attorney general, that the exceptions in the patent are void.

To investigate and preserve the rights of the government to the sources of water supply for the stupendous reclamation projects constructed or in contemplation, Mr. Wickersham strongly recommends an appropriation to employ an adequate force of lawyers. Pointing out that innumerable claims inevitably will be lodged against the government, contesting its right to selected water sources, he says the welfare of the citizens who have staked their fortunes on the success of these enterprises and the honor of the government demand immediate action.

The department of justice, including the offices of the attorney general and all the United States attorneys, has been on a paying basis during President Taft's term of office, according to figures submitted in the report, a surplus of nearly $2,500,000 over expenses having been turned into the federal treasury. For the four years ended June 30, last, the department collected $11,212,959 through suits and compromises and expended $8,756,565. The collections for the preceding four years amounted to $3,597,442 and expenses $6,356,798. In addition the government recovered during the past four years 1,623,119 acres of public lands.

THE ZEBRA GOWN.

This Smart Costume a New French Creation.

IT IS ATTRACTIVE FOR THE MATRON.

One of the great French dressmakers, known at the capital as the instigator of weird effects in dress, stands as sponsor for this winter costume, which is called the zebra gown because of its odd and striking arrangement of striped material.

Black and white velvet is draped over black satin in the bodice, and the skirt has an interesting adaptation of stripes. A panel of black satin weighted with gray silk fringe and embroidered in gray brings into harmony the color scheme. Black satin boots and a chic black hat complete the picture.

Fichu For Last Year's Frock.

The woman of limited means should be delighted that the fichu is in style this season. By its kindly aid last year's gowns can be brought up to date.

A fichu of jetted net flecked with emerald green or cerise will quite transform even the dingiest of black dresses, while an ivory satin which has seen its best days a fichu of deep ivory net will work marvels. And now that such wonderful dyed nets and laces are to be had so cheaply any old gown can be made to look new and up to date.

This Fur Set Is Very New.

Interesting because of the cape arrangement is this little set of seal and leopard. The muff is in regulation style and size and is attractive simply on account of the combination of pelts, but the neckpiece is particularly noteworthy.

The cape is long in the back, coming to the waist, and attached to it is a belt of leopard skin.

New Paper For Bedroom.

There is a strong tendency just now to the soft effects in French gray, pink and blue. A new design in this artistic combination has alternating half inch strips of softest gray and white, topped with a very deep border showing graceful baskets of brownish gold filled with pink and gold flowers and suspended from large bowknots of blue, simulating narrow blue ribbon. The blending admits of plain blue or a soft French pink in decorations and suggests lovely color schemes with either.

MAN'S ARTERIES.

And Some of the Causes That Tend to Make Them Harden.

"A man is as old as his arteries," is a common saying among physicians, which has come to be taken up by their patients. Dr. Herbert C. Clapp of Boston in the New York Medical Record comes forward with an article declaring that worry is a common cause of arteriosclerosis, the hardening of the arteries is not infrequently considered as one of the customary and proper accompaniments of a ripe old age—sometimes even of middle life—it is not universally so, and that even at fourscore years, as proved by autopsies, the arteries have been found to be perfectly sound. He cites the case of the champion old man, Thomas Parr of England, who died at the advanced age of 152 and whose arteries were found by Harvey—who discovered the circulation of the blood—on examination after death to be perfectly sound.

Dr. Clapp says that within certain limits the arteries do not harden because they are old, but are old because they are diseased. Among causes for arteriosclerosis he gives overeating, excessive muscular strain and excessive brain work. Worry produces functional disturbances and undue blood pressure. This brings with it arteriosclerosis. He holds that most worries are indulged in without an adequate reason, therefore, and cites the following quotation: "I am an old man and have had many troubles, but most of them never happened."

POPPING CORN.

Why the Heat Literally Turns the Grains Inside Out.

A grain of popcorn is filled with tightly packed starch grains. The interior of the grain is divided into a large number of cells, each of which may be likened to a tiny box, the walls whereof are sufficiently strong to withstand considerable pressure from within. Upon the application of heat the moisture present in each little box is converted into steam that finally escapes by explosion.

To obtain a satisfactory popping there is required a very high degree of heat. This causes the greater part of the cells to explode simultaneously. The grain of corn then literally turns inside out and is transformed into a relatively large mass of snow white starch.

If corn be old and dry it will not pop satisfactorily. A few cells near the center of the grain may burst, but the general result will be unsatisfactory. At the base of the kernels, where they are attached to the cob, the cells appear to be drier, and it has been observed that these cells are seldom broken in the popping.

Practically all the popcorn raised for market in this country comes from New England. Great quantities of it are popped, buttered and packed for sale all over the United States.—Harper's Weekly.

An Offer Declined.

Dr. Portal, the favorite medical attendant of Louis XVIII, of France, was offered an unusual reward for his services. Having cured Vestrin of a severe illness, the famous dancing master said to him: "My dear doctor, I should never dream of offering you money. Between artists there can be no dealings except those of gratitude. To demonstrate mine, I will give you a valuable hint as to your department. I have often noticed that you have a most ungraceful way of carrying yourself. I can remedy that in a few lessons and teach you how to enter a sick room in such a way as to please the most exacting patient. We can begin now if you like." Much to the amazement of Vestrin, Portal declined this offer and so lost the esteem of his illustrious patient.

Top Buttonhole of a Coat.

The buttonhole in one's coat does not owe its origin to the once universally worn flower, but to our ancestors' habit of buttoning their coats right up to the neck. Fashion changed, the coat was turned back, forming what the tailor calls the "lapel," and the buttonhole was utilized for the flower, which old portraits tell us was before this time tucked into the waistcoat near the waist, or if a belt were worn, in the belt. The primitive use of the buttonhole is still seen in the overcoat, which has a companion button on the other side for use in rough weather.—London Chronicle.

Plaster Casts.

Those who have plaster casts that they wish to preserve may protect them from dust by brushing them with a preparation of white wax and white soap, half a teaspoonful of each boiled with a quart of rain or other soft water. Use when cold, and when they are dried the casts may be wiped with a damp cloth without injury. To harden casts brush with a strong solution of alum water and brush with white wax dissolved in turpentine. Put the cast in a warm place to dry after using the latter, and it will have a look not unlike that of old ivory.

Had to Creep.

"Why do you say 'A bluish creep over the face of the plaintiff'?" asks the editor.
"Because," explains the society editor, "there was so much powder on her face the blush had to creep or else it would raise too much dust."

The Clever Ones.

LETTER FROM MISSOURI.

Calhoun, Mo., Dec. 5, 1912.

Dear Journal: We were not aware that we would find anything very interesting in this part of Missouri that would call for a letter from us, but under circumstances we feel that our readers would enjoy the facts we have picked up while making a visit to this town. We stopped off here for a visit with our old friends, Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Houston, they were both well known in Morgan county; Mr. Houston as a hard working, frugal and honest young man. Mrs. Houston as Miss Anna Cowdin, of Joy Prairie, one of the best and most successful school teachers in the county. We believe their old time friends will take pleasure in reading a short sketch of their life in old Missouri. They have lived on the same farm, one mile from Calhoun, for eighteen years, making friends of all who came in contact with them. They bought and paid for their farm, built a good two story commodious dwelling, with barns, sheds and feeders suitable for their farm of 200 acres; they have everything around them that heart could wish to make happy their declining years. They have worked hard for their competency and a look at them will prove that hard work, with a cheerful disposition, does not make people grow old before their time. Ike (as we call him) is still a vigorous man, able to do a fair day's work if necessary; his wife is straight as an Indian, with eyes as bright as diamonds and a smile for all who meet her. In our estimation this couple are the most fortunate we ever knew; while they have wooed prosperity to their home with the hardest kind of labor, they are being repaid a thousand fold from family conditions. They have one daughter, who is married and well located in a flourishing Kansas town, with a happy home and all of this world's goods she can possibly use. They also have four stalwart sons that have no bad habits, who neither smoke, chew nor drink; three of these have married good looking, intelligent young women, all school teachers. These boys have settled near their parents, all owning good farms, and looked up to as the best citizens of the county. The youngest, Walter, is still at home; he is attending all the church festivals and pie suppers, looking for his affinity with both eyes, and its only a question of time when he will lead the best looking girl in the county to the church and say the words that will put him under her care during the balance of his life. We wish them success. We think this the most phenomenal and happy condition and record it to prove to our young readers that with clean lives, industry, frugality and the fear of God in their lives, such things can be accomplished.

We were met by our friends and driven to their palatial home, where we have been living on the fat of the land. Our board here, if we were compelled to pay for it, would be quite a financial item, for Mrs. McCarty has acquired a tie-hokey appetite and our own is as bad. Every day through the week Mr. Houston has taken us out for an airing where we could see the country and get acquainted with the people. We find very few of the old Missouri stock left in this vicinity and when we do find a family of the old stock they are of the best blood, hospitable and up to date in their farming. What we have seen of this county (Henry) is far above our expectations as a farming country. We have visited about eight miles, east, west and north, from Calhoun and find the soil good; it will produce crops of all kinds equal to Illinois; in fact, we saw corn that none of our Illinois friends would be ashamed of. They also raise red clover, timothy, red top, sorghum, broom corn and all kinds of vegetables in great profusion. We examined the exhibit of corn at the People's bank in Calhoun and found 440 ears of as fine corn as we ever saw in Jacksonville, a display that any county could be proud of. The lay of the land is undulating, with small streams of pure water coursing at every point of the compass; this produces stock water of the best quality. The farmers are not dependent on the streams for their stock water, as there is any amount of good water to be had near the surface at an average of 25 feet. We are willing to admit that this is a lovely country to look over, and we have seen the proof that it is as good as it looks, and you will admit that this is a good deal for a Morgan county, Illinois, farmer to admit. Calhoun is a clean town on the M. & T. railroad, of about one thousand inhabitants, without a single colored family in the corporation; two banks, the Bank of Calhoun and the People's bank. Our friend, Mr. Houston, is a director of the latter, a fine high school, four churches, Presbyterian, Methodist, Christian and Missionary Baptist, dry goods groceries, hardware, drugs and all other business is well represented. We made a call, and had a very pleasant visit with the editor of the Calhoun Clarion, Mr. P. L. DeHart. We found this young man to be intelligent and up to date with his business and we wish him success in his noble calling. We also visited friends at Ionia, a small town on the Rock Island railroad, about twenty miles from Calhoun. Here we expected to visit our old friend, Rev. Frank Pollock and wife, but we were somewhat disappointed because they were in the country, two miles from Ionia. We went to the Van-Wey house and found a nice clean hotel, managed by a nephew of Ira VanWey, a pleasant young man, who has a nice wife. They made us welcome and we phoned out to the Pollocks to come in and eat dinner with us. Mr. Pollock was not very well and did not feel able to ride out, but Mrs. Pollock came and we had a splendid good visit with her. While dinner was cooking we went out to see if we could find any good people in the town and met up with the finest fellow ever, he is cashier of the Ionia bank and as good a fellow as we ever met; this saying a good deal when you remember how many

ASSESSES REPUBLICAN PARTY WILL LIVE LONG

Former Governor Durbin of Indiana Says G. O. P. Will Be Ready and Equipped For Big Victory Four Years Hence.

Winfield T. Durbin, former governor of Indiana and a candidate for that office at the last election has recently published an article "Afterthoughts of the Election." Mr. Durbin admits that some party reforms may be needed but affirms that Republican principles are as safe, needful and enduring as they were in the sixties. In his article he says:

"Party No Corpses."
"The political buzzards who imagine they smell carrion since the battle of Armageddon, will discover that the Republican party is no corpse. If there is a dead one on the field he bears another name. The Republican party, so far as the election returns of November 5 indicate, is not as big as it has been at times, but its present composition represents the survival of the fittest; only the fighting men are left. The camp followers, the guerrillas, the faint-hearted and the deserters have thinned its ranks, but never were the real Republicans who have survived the period of its trial by fire more determined, more militant, more thoroughly in earnest than they are today."

"Always real Republican leadership has pinned its faith to the enduring power of principles, and not of temporary majorities. Majorities and pluralities come and go, but principles stand the test of time."
"What happened in 1912 is only 1892 over again. The Republican party was defeated primarily because again the restless desire for a change had seized the people. This time that desire was magnified because of the projection into the campaign of Mr. Roosevelt's third term ambition."
"Result Not Disastrous."
"The result was not more disastrous, so far as the Republican party is concerned, than it would have been in 1892 if Mr. Blaine had decided to lead a bolt from the Minneapolis convention and stand as an independent candidate.

"The future of the Republican party depends now as it always has depended, on that vindication of its principles and policies which only the progress of events can furnish or deny it. Its real leaders have never sought to commend it to the people through the appeal of its prospectuses, but by the actual results of its policies in action insofar as they affect the strength of the nation and the welfare of its people."

"In this administration of William Howard Taft, under a tariff law enacted, with incidental defects, in harmony with the protective principle that is the corner stone of the Republican creed, we have registered the nation's high water mark of national prosperity. If our adversaries, to whom I attribute only a purpose to serve well their country, can submerge it, well and good. But if two years or four years hence that mark shall stand out high above the receding waters, then again, inevitably, the Republican party will triumphantly return to power."

"The only reorganization the Republican party needs is that which will be effected in the regular way many months hence by the Republican rank and file. It needs no reorganization at the hands of the politicians at Washington or elsewhere, and particularly it needs no reorganization at the hands of men who have been unfaithful to it in the campaign where its right to continue in power was at stake. We need leaders now of the fiber of William McKinley, who had the courage and the foresight to stand up after the overwhelming Republican reverses of 1890 and 1892, declaring anew his faith in those Republican policies against which just such demagogic clamor was raised both by the opposition and by timorous, time-serving Republicans that we have heard again as history repeats itself in 1910 and 1912."

"History Repeats Itself."

"And William McKinley lived to see his party's splendid vindication, the popular indorsement and the successful trial of those very policies rejected at the polls twenty years ago."

"There is room in this country for one political party that does not play the demagog, and knows a higher rule of action than mere opportunities that believes in itself and its mission sufficiently to be willing if need be to be defeated for principle, and have the faith that no party is ever whipped that goes down fighting for the best interests of the American people."

"If President Wilson adopts a conservative course, a course that is intended to ward off from the American people the dread consequence of precipitate and ill-considered action, he will be denounced as a reactionary by the same great publicity organization that has made President Taft the most maligned statesman in American history."

"If, on the other hand, he falls in with the radicals, the self-styled 'progressives' of his party the result in my opinion will be such a revelation as to the results of radicalism in action that the people of this country will be sick and disgusted by it. The Republican party in Indiana will be recruited at the next election, under those circumstances, by the hundred thousand Hoosiers who were too busy to vote this year, by thousands of Bull Moosers who were befuddled by their leaders into believing this year that the way to beat Wilson was to vote for Roosevelt, thousands more who prefer the occasional sight of a meal ticket to the imaginary fighting at Armageddon, and by every Democrat who prefers prosperity to political buncombe."

"Need Good Men."

"The need of this country at this time is men in politics who, animated by patriotism, will weigh well our public problems, reach conclusions dictated by reason and not merely by what they believe a majority of the people will for the moment acclaim, and then will stand by these conclusions, come failure or success. "My message to Indiana Republicans is, hold the lines and keep the recruiting offices open, we are repulsed, not whipped, we will be re-enforced, not dispersed; our party will fight and win again—it will not die."

STILLWELL CASE TO REACH JURY TODAY

EVIDENCE CONCLUDED THURSDAY AFTERNOON.

Defendant Took Stand in His Own Defense and Alleged That He Was in Fear of Bodily Harm from the Man He Killed—State Will Ask for Infliction of Death Penalty.

The Stillwell murder case in the circuit court is nearing a close. The examination of witnesses was concluded at 5 o'clock and court adjourned until this morning. The case will be argued this morning when court convenes and the instructions will then be given to the jury. State's Attorney Tilton and P. P. Thompson will both speak for the state and T. Forrest Smith will present Stillwell's side.

Witnesses who took the stand in behalf of the people were Fred Craven, Sheriff Rogers, W. A. Masters, Bert Cannon, Levi Cannon, Dr. T. O. Hardesty, Squire Beekman, S. M. Hussey, G. V. Skinner and Bertha Gunnells. Witnesses for the defense were John Ankrum, Charles Caldwell, A. L. Lowdenslager, Carl Stillwell, Oscar Stillwell, Elmer Sheppard and Edith Parrish.

Bert and Levi Cannon and Fred Craven were plowing in the same field with Stillwell and Gunnells when the shooting took place. They later saw him returning and afterward heard revolver shots and saw Gunnells team running away with the cultivators. They testified to finding Gunnells prostrate on the ground, his position indicating that he had fallen from the plows and that he had been shot at from the rear or side.

Four shots had been fired. One bullet went through his hat, another pierced his nose and the other took effect in the side, shoulder and arm. The dead man's eyes were staring and his face downward or sideways upon the ground.

Stillwell took the stand in his own defense. He told of going to his home for the purpose of giving his wife money to take to Franklin to buy medicine for a sick baby. He said that on his way back across the field that Gunnells stopped him and made some comment to the effect that Stillwell was not doing as much work as the other men. He said he replied to Gunnells and told him that he did not want to have any trouble with him and that at the same moment Gunnells started toward him with a knife. He then pulled out his revolver and began shooting.

The defense contradicted witnesses for the prosecution, maintaining that he had passed by Gunnells before the altercation took place.

P. P. Thompson conducted the cross-examination of Stillwell and made some of his statements appear in a very unfavorable light in view of the other testimony. By W. A. Masters and the men who were in the field plowing with Stillwell and Gunnells it was shown that footprints, presumably those made by Stillwell, were not visible south of the point where Gunnells fell, but to the north, and east of that point. This would indicate that Stillwell shot Gunnells from the side or rear.

There was no testimony to show that Stillwell and Gunnells had ever had any serious trouble. There were known to have been on seemingly friendly terms up until a few weeks before the tragedy, although a brother of Stillwell on the stand stated that when driving home from the funeral of his sister that he heard Gunnells say he would get Stillwell some day. It was attempted to show that Gunnells blamed Stillwell for harboring his wife at the time that she separated from him.

Stillwell was nervous while on the stand and his story was controverted in many points by the cross examination and by witnesses.

State's Attorney Tilton in his argument this morning will ask for the infliction of the death penalty for murder. The jury, however, will have the power to fix the penalty at from 14 years to life imprisonment.

MORE DEMOCRATS APPROVE PLAN TO HOLD UP TAFT APPOINTMENTS

Post Office Nominations Likely to Be Picketed by Interested Senators—Action Taken Thursday Indicate Plan to Be Followed.

Washington, Dec. 5.—Democratic leaders in the senate had apparently gathered additional strength today for the proposed movement to prevent the confirmation of the majority of President Taft's appointments to office that will be made in the last three months of his administration. It is understood now that practically all of the post office appointments will be "picketed" by senators from the interested districts where ever they might be affected by a change of administration on March fourth.

Two nominations that came up in the senate commerce committee today were referred to members of the senate, who it is understood are likely to hold them up. The appointment of D. O. Newberry as collector of customs for the Albermar district in North Carolina was referred to Senator Simmons, and that of James J. Harbin, as collector of the Saluria district in Texas, to Senator Bankhead. Senator Simmons, opposed a previous nomination of Newberry; and Senator Bankhead will not report the Harbin nomination unless the Texas senators approve. He does not expect they will do so.

The "Y" boys under the direction of Physical Director Brewer have been putting in some good ticks and are in the pink of condition. Brennan, the big center was called out of town on a business trip and will be absent from the lineup, but either Rogers or Gieseking will fill that position.

A curtain raiser will be played between the Christian church hustlers and the Grace M. E. church five. The "Y's" lineup follows, Rogers or Gieseking, center; Johnson, Rrye, Osborne, guards; Walker, Waterfield, McCracken, guards.

ASSIGNS NEW CAUSE FOR HIGH COST OF LIVING

Long Island Gardener Says Private Yachts, Automobiles and Country and City Homes for Produce Exchange Number is Reason.

New York, Dec. 5.—"The reason for the high cost of living today is the private yachts, automobiles and country and city homes for members of the produce exchange, for which the consumer and the producer pay," declared H. B. Fullerton, a Long Island gardener to a conference of producers and consumers at the New York board of trade and transportation today. His hearers applauded as he ascribed the troubles of both city dweller and farmer to the middleman.

"If we want to get a square deal for the farmer and another for the consumer," Mr. Fullerton continued "we must eliminate the system which now prevails of letting a middleman skim all the cream off the producer. Over on Long Island this season our boys got 45 cents a barrel for cauliflower. I followed that same cauliflower down to market and saw that selling it in the stalls there at 25 cents a head."

Another grower told of selling beans for thirty cents a bushel and tracing them to a city market, where they were sold at 15 cents a quart, or at the rate of $4.80 a bushel.

FRANKLIN MAY SOON GET ELECTRIC LIGHTS

Rumor is That Public Service Company Will Acquire Waverly Plant and Run Wires to Other Town—Plan Proposed is Part of Great System.

The Central Illinois Public Service company is laying plans to furnish electric light and power to Franklin and other towns in Morgan county not already supplied. The company some time ago purchased the light plant at Meredosia and it is understood has just about closed a deal with H. J. Rodgers of this city, owner of the Waverly light plant.

The company is a very large concern with several millions of capital back of it and is said to own more than fifty plants already and has a number of other purchases in view. Among the plants owned by the concern are those at Mt. Sterling, Pittsfield, Bluffs, Petersburg, Roodhouse and Jerseyville. The purpose is to furnish twenty-four hour service in light and power in various circuits from a number of central plants. One such a supply plant is now in course of construction at Kincaid, a small mining town near Taylorville. Another such plant may be established at Meredosia and ground for it is now under option. The current will be transmitted to the various towns and cities over a cable carried on steel towers and where many patrons are to be served sub-stations will be established.

The systems of circuit and units will be such when the whole plan has been worked out that if anything is temporarily out of order at one plant that current can be supplied from one of the others. The whole plan of course is based upon the idea of reducing the cost of production.

to the lowest possible figure. Franklin residents are very much interested in the project as they long have wanted electric light but the consumption in sight was not large enough to warrant the erection of a plant. E. V. Graham, assistant general superintendent of the company, was in Franklin recently to find out if the citizens there want light and power and are willing to grant the company rights for the erection of poles and the stringing of wires. If the Waverly plant is purchased wires will immediately be put up for the Franklin service.
